JR. COLLEGE FORMAL OPENING HELD SEPT. 23

University Officials and Other Guests On Program; Mr. Meek Reads Greetings of Hoskins.

The opening exercises of The University of Tennessee Junior College were given to a filled auditorium at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning September 23. Prof. R. G. Turner, presiding. After the singing of "America," led by Mr. S. R. Woods, the invocation was made by Rev. E. C. Thurmond. Mr. George C. Rowlett of the Board of Trustees of The University of Tennessee, welcomed the incoming classes. Mr. Rowlett said, "I welcome you for two reasons: one you have taken an interest in yourselves toward self-improvement by presenting yourselves here; two, because we know the University has ample facilities to afford you this self-improvement."

Prof. Turner made announcements on assembly, the new handbooks, class routine, bulletin board, and recreations. After a song, Paul Meek, Executive Officer, spoke on the topic, "The Outlook at The University of Tennessee Junior College."

Mr. Meek brought greetings from President Hoskins, of the University at Knoxville. He presented the three new faculty members to the audience. Afterward he spoke of the magnitude of the junior college movement. "But," Mr. Meek said, "we are not a typical junior college. We are a part of the State University to serve this section of Tennessee with true university work." The growth has been steady, he said. Last year the total enrollment was about 340. This year the number, in all likelihood, would be 400. There is not a better faculty in all the 500 junior colleges in the United States, Mr. Meek continued; nor he felt a more courteous, intelligent student body. A larger success of the Junior college would depend upon faculty stu-

ENROLLMENT IN AG. ENGINEERING COURSE IS LARGE

Prof. S. R. Woods More Than Pleased With Large Enrollment in New Course.

Instructors of the newly formed Agricultural Engineering Department of UTJC are more than favorably impressed with the good starting record which the department is making. Registration of students for this course exceeded expectations and two sections have been necessary in some classes where such was not planned.

Professor S. R. Woods, head of the department, believes the two-year course is already permanently rooted as a course of the Junior College. He states that all students are showing especial interest in their work in this department. It is believed that this course will fill a long felt need in this section.

The entire course consists in the study of engineering subjects which are particularly applied to rural problems, such as mechanical drawing, carpentry and cabinet making, wood finishing, tin and blacksmith work, surveying and engineering mathematics. These, together with general courses, such as English, chemistry, and physics and some basic agricultural subjects make a very attractive course of study for mechanically inclined rural boys.

The department is housed in the modern designed and equipped Industrial Arts building, which has a floor space of 18,000 square feet. It is divided into laboratories for farm machinery, farm motors, wood shop, forge shop, sheet metal work, mechanical and architectural drawing, blue printing, and household engineering. Other rooms are lecture rooms, tool room, locker rooms, of fices and large storage rooms. The Industrial Arts building is one of the best equipped and arranged buildings in the South for excellent instruction in this course.

Junior Vols To Meet Arkansas State Friday

On next Friday night, October 9, the Junior Vols encounter what promises to be the stiffest opposition so far this season when they meet the strong Arkansas State team on the Junior College field. The team which the Arkansians will throw on the field comes to Tennessee with a higher rating than last year's, and is expected to give Derryberry's men plenty of trouble from the opening gun. The Staters are known to the Vols as a fighting team, who will be in there trying until the last whistle blows, and realize in them a serious threat to their conference hopes.

The game will be called promptly at 8 o'clock.

FORMER COLLEGE STUDENT JOINS UNITED PRESS

Tom Flake Accepts Position With News Association; To Be Stationed in Memphis.

Tom Flake, Paris Post-Intelligencer columnist and reporter received a telegram last week from the Memphis bureau of the United Press Association, advising him to report for duty there Friday. Young Flake will be employed on the general news staff of the Memphis bureau.

Flake is the second Post-Intelligencer man to be called by the United Press within the past several months. Charles G. Neese, Jr., who handled sports and other news copy for the Post for several years, was connected with the UP in New Orleans for some time before he accepted a position as director of publicity at Cumberland University at Lebanon.

Young Flake first began his services with the Post-Intelligencer on June 2, 1930, when the paper was converted from a weekly to a daily. Flake began as a carrier on one of the smaller city routes and when he terminated his services as a carrier, he was delivering papers on the square route, one of the largest in the city.

After graduating from Grove High School, Flake enrolled at The University of Tennessee Junior College at Martin and was made managing editor of The Volette, official school publication of the college. He was later made editor-in-chief of the college paper, and was in charge of the school publicity bureau.

For the past several years Flake has been writing "Postettes" and his daily column of comment has been enjoyed by Post-Intelligencer readers. He will probably enroll at the Southwestern University in Memphis for a part time course this fall.

JUNIOR VOLS TAKE FIRST GAME

The University of Tennessee Junior College eleven met the Mississippi Junior College team Friday, September 25, in their first lap toward a victorious season.

The teams were evenly matched in size, yet Mississippi lacked the ability of perfect timing and drive that the Junior Vols displayed so remarkably. One of the many features that proved the Vols out of Mississippi's class was their ability to carry those long punts down within a few yards of the goal line.

Was it the result of the Junior Vols or was it the result of Coach Humphrey's careful training that enabled them to complete approximately 60 percent more passes than did Mississippi? At any rate, it doesn't matter, but the matter of primary importance is that the U. T. Junior Vols can slate their first contest of the season a victory by the score of 56-6.

At the half the freshman boys received their first taste of the grid iron, but not in uniform. Not only by the belts of the sophomores, while the stadium was arrayed with multi-colored freshman girls, which only made the game more interesting to the visitors.

Coach Grantham wishes to express his thanks and appreciation toward the cheering squad, which he states as being almost as important as the victorious eleven.

"IT IS UP TO STUDENTS" SAYS MR. PHILLIPS

Students To Be Given Opportunity To Vote On Annual Soon; Work Should Be Started

It is up to the students as to whether or not we put out an annual this year, said J. Paul Phillips, chairman of the College publications committee, in a recent interview. He added that he expected the issue to be brought before the student body to be voted on within a short time.

In response to a petition for an annual, a committee, composed of Mr. Phillips, Prof. W. E. Derryberry, and Bursar Gene H. Stanford, was appointed in the spring of last year to investigate the possibilities of publishing a yearbook. This committee reported that it considered it inadvisable to attempt such a publication so late in the year, but that it would be favorable to such a proposition at the beginning of the present school year, if the majority of the students wanted it. Opportunity will be given sometime in the near future for the student body to express themselves on whether or not an annual is desired, and if so, what they would be willing to pay for it. Yearbooks put out in the past have cost from three and one-half to five dollars, according to Mr. Phillips, although it is entirely possible to get out a book at a substantially lower rate.

Mr. Phillips also emphasized the fact that an annual is not only a record of the school activities of the year, but is a gauge by which observers measure the school. Copies of the proposed annual could be sent to the various high schools of West Tennessee, reaching many prospective students, and becoming a good source of publicity for the Junior College.

Mr. Phillips stated that if an annual is to be published this year it is high time to begin the necessary work. Pictures must be taken and write-ups of the various events of interest made. This work should be started at once in order that it may be accomplished with as much dispatch and ease as possible.

Scribblers Club

The Scribblers Club held its initial meeting last Wednesday night at the Administration building. The meeting was presided over by Arlynn Bruer, last year's president. After calling the house to order, the president introduced H. H. Kroll, the club sponsor, who gave a brief history of the club and discussed some projects which the club hopes to carry out this year. Following Mr. Kroll's remarks, new officers were elected, the election being presided over by Miss Grace L. Turner, acting chairman. Mr. Bruer was re-elected president; Mr. Paul Mayhew, vice president; Miss Madge Madden, secretary-treasurer; Miss Edith Edwards, historian; and James W. Harrison, reporter.

Following the election Mr. Bruer took the chair and several committees were appointed. The club voted to meet on alternate Tuesday nights and Wednesday afternoons. Any one interested in any form of writing is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Among the interesting suggestions offered for the year's projects was that of the Scribblers getting out a yearbook, mimeographed in the fashion of some of the so-called "little magazines," or literary "high-brows." Among such publications was the Frontier and Midland, issued at the University of Iowa in the beginning. Writers now known in the best markets began in just such humble form. Bruer plans more immediate, and projects more popular, were those that had to do with the social activities of the Scribblers. Such wild affairs as a hot dog roast, and fish fry at Reelfoot Lake, were taken under serious consideration. A small sum for dues will be collected for this purpose.

CHEER LEADERS NAMED

After much deliberation, Miss Florence Elliott has named the new cheer leaders. They are Misses Neil Warren, Martha Ann Frazier, and Edith Edwards of Martin, and Miss Frances Hansbrough of Greenfield.

ORIENTATION PROGRAM IS INAUGURATED

Freshmen Aided by New Orientation Program On Monday; Handbooks Are Added Aid.

A feature of the opening at UTJC was the freshman orientation program first put into use this year. The idea behind the program is to aid new students to become at home on the campus, learn locations, and generally to familiarize themselves with the new situation in which they find themselves.

The program opened on Monday, September 21 at 10:30 a.m. in the auditorium, Prof. H. K. Grantham presiding. After an opening song, Prof. S. R. Woods leading Miss Cyril Oliver at the piano, Mr. Paul Meek, Executive Officer, made the welcome address. Mr. Meek spoke of the new life, of the importance and meaning of college training, and gave a cordial welcome to the incoming freshman class, as well as the second year student who had returned. Mr. Gene Stanford gave an outline of the technique of registration. Mrs. Myrtle Phillips registrar, then outlined the University regulations. Prof. Paul Phillips spoke briefly upon publications. Prof. R. G. Turner upon the various clubs; and finally, Mr. Grantham upon the athletic program.

At noon a delightful lunch was served in the dining hall, Miss Louise Smith acting as hostess. At this time the faculty was presented to the student body. Identification tests, and making identification photographs occupied the afternoon. In the evening, a college mixer was a feature taking place at the gym. Mr. J. Paul Phillips, Dr. Schmidt and Mr. Meek being in charge. At the close of the program the ministers of Martin were presented to the student body. Talks by the members of the agricultural faculty and home economics faculty on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock concluded a program which welcomed the largest enrollment that the Junior College has had in its history.

HELEN CANNON INSTRUCTOR IN HOME EC. DEPT.

Is Graduate of Arkansas State, Iowa State University and New York School of Fine Arts.

Miss Helen Cannon is the new head of the Home Economics department. Her home town is Marianna, Arkansas, and she completed her high school course there. Miss Cannon completed her B.S. degree at Arkansas State College in Fayetteville and received her Master's degree from Iowa State University in Ames, Iowa. This past summer she attended the New York School of Fine Arts.

Her hobbies are closely related to her work. She especially likes anything pertaining to clothes. She likes costume designing and interior decorating. Historic textiles and historical pictures also interest her. She is a great show, especially those with unusual costumes. She thinks picture shows are a good way to study new materials and their combination. Miss Cannon will probably spend much of her leisure time in the library, since she reads a great deal. She especially enjoys interesting discussions with unusual people.

Miss Cannon is very enthusiastic about her work here in the Junior College. She is extremely proud of her department. She thinks the girls of this section of the country are extremely fortunate in being able to attend the Junior College. She likes for her students to express their own opinion.

Miss Cannon is thoroughly equipped for her position. She has taught one year at Judson College, in Marion, Alabama, and at Limestone College in Gaffney, South Carolina. Both of these colleges are girls' schools.

The Junior College is extremely fortunate in securing the services of Miss Cannon. An interesting personality, always dressed in the best of taste, she is rapidly becoming a familiar figure on the campus.

Welcome Students Says Executive Officer Meek

As you dreamed the state large and began to lay plans for you, it knew you would come. It was ready for you. Tennessee sent me to welcome you eager Freshmen, and to congratulate you fortunate September doors upon your return to say the

COOKING SCHOOL CONDUCTED AT AUDITORIUM

The Kentucky Tennessee Light and Power Company cooking school held in the auditorium of the Administration building on Tuesday afternoon, September 29, proved a huge success.

The demonstrators, Miss Mulligan, head of the Home Service department, and Miss Elizabeth Hardy, also of the Home Service department and Kentucky Tennessee Light and Power Company representatives in this section gave very interesting demonstrations and lectures on the use of the various electric appliances, including the stove, refrigerator, and mixer.

Miss Mulligan, incidentally, is a former teacher at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, having taught our own Miss McFee. Miss Hardy is from George Peabody College at Nashville.

Besides the use of the larger appliances, Miss Mulligan demonstrated the latest cooking utensils and time-savers. Among the things cooked was a complete dinner: roast, carrots, onions, and individual puddings all cooked in the "thrift cooker" at one time. A cake, a steak, and another complete dinner were also cooked, and all these things were given away at the drawing at the close of the school. Two very nice floor lamps were also given away.

The second year Home Economics class of Martin High School attended in a body and were very much pleased with the school. Their joint opinion was that they all wanted electrically equipped kitchens in their homes some day, and this too seemed to be the opinion of all others who attended.

MASK & WIG CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The Mask & Wig Club of Little U. T., a dramatic society, held its first meeting Thursday night, October 1, at the Administration building. Temporary officers, to serve until the next regular meeting, were elected as follows: President, Mr. Robert James; vice president, Miss Charlotte Boyd; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Thomas Thompson, Jr.; reporter, Miss Mary Jane Porter. Short talks were made by Mr. Emerson Smith, president of the club, and Mr. H. H. Kroll, the club's sponsor. At the close of the program, a tea was served for the members of the club by the home economics faculty.

As a result of the meeting, the club decided to hold its next meeting on Tuesday, October 6, at 8 o'clock. The club is a new organization, and its members are very enthusiastic about their work.

JUNIOR COLLEGE ALUMNI SECURES POSITION

Miss Ann Fitts, popular alumna of the Junior College, is now assisting her father, P. M. Fitts, in his poultry store on North Lindell street. Miss Fitts was prominent in campus affairs before her graduation last May.

ROTARY CLUB MOTOR TRIP

The Martin Rotary Club entertained the students Sunday afternoon with a motor trip from Martin, to Union City, Fulton, and back to Martin.

JUNIOR VOLS STAGE RALLY TO TAKE HIWASSEE

Trailing At Half, Orangemen Score Twice in Second Period To Win 14-3; Moody Stars.

Before the largest attendance of the season, The University of Tennessee Junior Vols took their second game of the season from a fighting Hiwassee crew 14 to 3 on the College athletic field here Friday night.

The Junior Vols took their opener the previous week from Northwest Mississippi Junior College 56 to 6.

The Hiwassee combination played an aggressive first half and gave Coach Derryberry's men plenty of trouble. At the half, Hiwassee had the Junior Vols 3 to 0.

The East Tennesseans made their one first goal early in the second frame, when they recovered a bad pass from center on the Junior Vol five yard line. After three unsuccessful attempts to score, Smith, Hiwassee quarterback, booted the pigskin through the Junior Vol goal post to gain their first half advantage.

Exactly what happened between the halves is not known, but the Vols came back with the viciousness of aged tigers. Such a second half has seldom been seen since the history of football at the U. T. Junior College.

Beginning the second period with the pigskin on their own 37 yard line, the Junior Vols started a goal-ward advance which ended only after a 7 to 3 lead had been gained. The touchdown came from a short pass from Herschel Ellis to Captain Elmer "Squallow" Vaughn early in the third quarter. Roland McMackin kicked the extra point.

Probably the most outstanding run of the game was made by Lloyd "Sir Mossy" second string quarter.

MR. EARL KNEPP INSTRUCTOR IN AG. ENGINEERING

New Instructor Is Native of Kansas; Graduate of Purdue and Experienced Instructor.

With the institution of the new Agricultural Engineering course at UTJC, a new instructor has been added to the faculty. The new instructor of the course is Mr. Earl Knepp from Frankfort, Kansas. Mr. Knepp was reared in Frankfort and was instructor of vocational agriculture there. He has taught vocational agriculture for three years, and has been a member of the National Vocational Education Association.

The Kansas State Agricultural Experiment Station, Manhattan, Kansas, is a well known institution. Mr. Knepp was a member of the staff of the station for three years, and was in charge of the vocational agriculture department. He has a B.S. degree from the University of Kansas, and a M.S. degree from the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. Knepp is a native of Kansas, and has been a member of the National Vocational Education Association for several years. He is a very experienced instructor, and is well qualified to teach the new course.

Mr. Knepp is a very enthusiastic about his work here in the Junior College. He is extremely proud of his department. He thinks the girls of this section of the country are extremely fortunate in being able to attend the Junior College. He likes for her students to express their own opinion.

Mr. Knepp is thoroughly equipped for his position. He has taught one year at Judson College, in Marion, Alabama, and at Limestone College in Gaffney, South Carolina. Both of these colleges are girls' schools. The Junior College is extremely fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Knepp. An interesting personality, always dressed in the best of taste, she is rapidly becoming a familiar figure on the campus.

SEND THIS COPY HOME

Send this issue of The Volette home when you have finished reading it. If your name is mentioned—and we have tried to sleuth down any item which includes your name—mark it for special attention. The folks at home will be glad to see that you are becoming inscribed in the rolls of the high and mighty. If your name happens not to be mentioned, just say that the next issue will, for it probably will—if you're not one of these retiring souls that esteem it a public dishonor to appear in the news. The primary reason for our requesting you to send this paper, and subsequent issues of The Volette, to homefolks or friend is that we want them to see what you are doing. But in addition to this, we would like other young people to read about us, the Junior College and what we stand for. Who knows when some bright young person will say, "When I go to college, I'm going to U.T.C. They do things there." Anyway, send the paper back home. Thanks a quarter million.

THE WALKS SITUATION

Those of us who remember the conditions under which we struggled to class last winter will appreciate the new gravel walks. This is an achievement to which the administration may point with some pride. Although it is far from the ideal, which we hope that some day will be realized, of having concrete walks, it is nevertheless a great improvement over the mud and slush of previous years. Patronize these walks! The sooner they are packed the better, as you will realize some rainy morning next February.

WELCOME, FROSH!

When the sound of the belt is heard in the land even the best and most patient of freshmen sometimes wonder if they are appreciated. This idea is prevalent each year, and is by no means original with this year's crop. Even the lordly sophomores were freshmen once—and thereby hangs the tale!

With a week of study gone by, however, you have probably begun to realize that college is not all entertainment—neither for you nor for the sophomores. You are now a part of this institution. You owe the school your loyalty. Back it! After all, it is YOUR school now, and the impression it makes upon observers will be to a great extent influenced by your attitude. Make this attitude right!

As the year progresses there will be times when you will not understand things, when you will need a helping hand. For this reason, keep your freshman hand book. It will be an invaluable aid to you all through the year. Do not hesitate to ask the sophomores about things. You will find them a fine bunch of fellows, always ready to give you the benefit of their collegiate experience. The same goes for the faculty—they are ready to advise with you or help you at any time.

At this season of the year we are often reminded of the story of the school head who addressed his first year class as follows: "Gentlemen, the freshmen! You have come here from being large frogs in small puddles. Here you are small frogs in a large puddle. Gentlemen, the freshmen, do not try to fill it—or you will burst!"

Gentlemen, the freshmen, you are now relatively small frogs. Your ultimate size will, to a great extent, depend upon yourself. However, regardless of present size or size-to-be, you are welcome. Make yourselves at home. Draw up a chair and spit in the ashes. The faculty, The Volette, the sophomore class, and The University of Tennessee unite in saying, "WELCOME, FROSH!"

SOCIETY

The social activities for the first week of school were varied and interesting. Monday night at 6:45 a student mixer was held in the gymnasium. Mr. J. Paul Phillips had charge of the program and various methods were used for the students to become acquainted. At the close of the program the various churches of the city sent representatives inviting the students to attend the church of their choice.

Tuesday night was song night with Mr. S. R. Woods in charge.

Wednesday night was football night and Miss Florence Elliott had command of the activities. Mr. R. G. Turner, chairman of the Athletic Committee, gave an interesting talk on Sportsmanship. Mr. C. E. Gatlin addressed the students on "Sports Etiquette." Quite a bit of time was spent learning yells and the school songs. After the pep meeting, the student body attended the show, "Two in a Crowd," at the Capitol Theater.

Thursday night, Dr. Schmidt was the gracious host to a well planned party held in the gymnasium. At 8 o'clock the students assembled in the lobby and the fun began. The receiving line, headed by Mr. R. G. Turner, faculty sponsor of the All-Student Club, was composed of the faculty members. Each student went to his respective county group, where various contests were being planned. Mr. H. K. Grantham and Mr. Gatlin assisted Dr. Schmidt with the games. The winners of the various contests were awarded Tennessee pennants.

Several groups of talented students contributed their part to the program. Mr. Woods and Miss Wisner had charge of the group singing. Miss Martha Blount, accompanied by Miss Joy Parrish, sang "Sylvia."

He also kicked the extra point to give the Junior Vols a 14 to 3 lead. The remainder of the game was nip and tuck affair. It ended with the Hiwassee eleven on the Junior Vol 18 yard stripe.

Agriculture

Bang! Bang!—Bang! No, not the opening of hunting season but the opening of the 1936-37 UTJC agriculture work. The largest agriculture class in the history of UTJC is off to a peppy start under the leadership of Mr. "Pop" Cravens, Mr. Ray DeMoss, and Mr. S. R. Woods.

The department of Animal Husbandry has not been idle during the summer and fall months. The total of eight entries were made at the Yorkville Jersey Cattle Club Show and nine prizes were won. The placings were as follows: third in open class of two-year-old bulls; first, second, and third in junior class of calves; first and also junior champion in senior class of calves; first in junior yearling class; and second and fourth in two-year cows in milk; making a total of three first, two seconds, two thirds, one fourth, and a Junior Champion.

Welcome Students—

Administrative Staff and the Instructional Staff are ready to serve you efficiently and joyfully. Each member of each staff welcomes you to laboratory and to lecture, to farm, shop and home. Altogether we welcome you into a great and fine family—The University of Tennessee. Her buildings, grounds, equipment and all facilities the State dreamed of having ready for you.

To the attainment of your absorbing purpose of study, a clear mastery of the courses of your curriculum, we give you a genuinely hearty challenge. Let on one of us, either of the student body or Faculty, lose sight of this main mission. From the start stick to your studies.

You have other aims you have dreamed about. And the state dreamed. The Physical Education Program helps meet one of them. Your clubs, their programs and the general social program will make you welcome through the year and stimulate growth of aims. The real heart of the Faculty—the spirit of the men and women of this group—you will learn much about out of class. I welcome you to this profitable contact.

The spirit of the pastors and our churches will reach out for touch with you that Truth in class and out of class may come first. Let our dreaming become a reality. A program for the whole man awaits you.

We are happy to greet the six hundred parents of you. The best welcome to them can come by combining our worthy efforts with theirs for sheer attainment. Through you, as well as directly, we open the doors of The University of Tennessee Junior College to them. We want them to visit the institution frequently.

Your special counselor stands ready to render aid at every point. Call upon him. Your professors are constantly looking for opportunities to advance you. Give them a chance. My office and home are open at all hours against the possibility I may render you some service. Call!

Dreams have come true. Welcome! O, Tennessee! O, Tennessee! Our hearts will ever turn to thee.

PAUL MEEK, Executive Officer.

STAFF REORGANIZATION

The Volette staff was reorganized on Wednesday, September 23, under the direction of Prof. H. H. Kroll, who will serve as faculty sponsor for 1936-37. Plans for the coming year were discussed, and the following staff appointed: H. Arlynn Bruer, editor-in-chief; Friel Mullins, associate editor; Andrew Johnson, business manager; Clarence Cantrell, sports; Madge Madden, copy editor; Edith Edwards, society; Nell Warren, clubs; Edna Paulk, copy editor; dent body, and parents, and future generations. Mr. Meek pointed out that only five of 275 students in the spring quarter failed to make the minimum requirements of the college. He then outlined the nature and scope of resident and extension instruction, concluding, "One of the great missions of U. T. Junior College is to aid in rebuilding and conserving the soils of West Tennessee. But we reach Middle Tennessee, and even to East Tennessee, having students in considerable numbers from both of these sections." To meet the needs of an increasing quality of work, Agricultural Engineering has been added. Mr. Meek pledged the energy of the whole faculty and the equipment to contribute to the good life in the territory served by the institution.

Judge Robert A. Elkins of Dresden made an address on the character essentials a student should bring to his college in order to make the most of the opportunities afforded by U. T. Junior College and to justify the sacrifices fathers and mothers must inevitably be making to send their children to college. "Learning how to live with yourselves and others is the great problem of life," Judge Elkins said. "Penal institutions are filled with those who could not master this primary problem of living." He gave decision, preparation, early vocational selection, and character as the chief means of avoiding the pitfalls of aimless chance and mere luck. "Let us not be bound by tradition and convention," Judge Elkins concluded, "but build on these and go forward to greater achievements than the past has made."

A feature of the program was a violin solo by Mr. Otis Parrish, Miss Parrish at the piano, "Minuet in G," by Beethoven. After the Tennessee song the benediction was pronounced by Rev. C. L. Skinner.

CHESTERFIELD RADIO PROGRAMS ANNOUNCE
NEW FALL PLANS

The popular Andre Kostelanetz dance programs sponsored by Chesterfield Cigarettes over the Columbia network open their fall season on September 30th, with the return of Nino Martini as star of the Wednesday evening broadcasts. Kay Thompson, Ray Heatherton and the Rhythm Singers will continue to hold the spotlight on Fridays, with a new broadcasting time of 8:30 E.S.T., and a re-broadcast of the entire show from New York at 11:30 for listeners in the West.

The Martini programs on Wednesday evenings will also feature a new Chesterfield chorus of 18 mixed voices which Kostelanetz has spent many weeks selecting and rehearsing. Insiders on radio row who have heard the new ensemble are lavish in their praises, and some claim that it is the finest singing aggregation Chesterfield has yet put on the air. They plan to vary the brilliant dance arrangements of Kostelanetz with the pick of light music from musical comedies, operettas and popular movies.

With the same background of Kostelanetz dance music on Friday evenings, the Kay Thompson-Ray Heatherton combination accompanied by the Rhythm Singers will continue to present their interpretation of popular songs and vocal novelties. This program was one of the outstanding hits of the summer season, twice being honored by nationally prominent magazines in the form of a medal awards as a dance program "refreshingly different." No doubt Chesterfield's new time periods on Friday, which include the later broadcast from New York for the Columbia Stations in the Western half of the country, were arranged so that more listeners could enjoy these popular entertainments.

Schedule—Columbia Network:

Wednesday — Chesterfield Cigarettes, Kostelanetz Dance Orchestra, Nino Martini and Chorus—9 p.m. E.S.T., 8 p.m. C.T., 7 p.m. M.T., 6 p.m. P.T.

Friday — Chesterfield Cigarettes, Kostelanetz Dance Orchestra, Ray Heatherton and Chorus—8:30 p.m. E.S.T., 7:30 p.m. C.T., 9:30 p.m. M.T., 8:30 p.m. P.T.
